Why study this course

As the business world morphs to accommodate the dynamic economic environment of today, this course introduces non-specialists to a range of business functional areas so that you become knowledgeable and effective managers. You develop a deep understanding of organisations and their external context. You also learn how to manage yourself, and others, in a supportive and academic environment. The course focuses on developing an awareness of business operations in an international environment, the aviation strategy and management governing international business and investments, finance and cultural awareness in global contexts.

Educational Aims

This course offers you the opportunity to develop a particular strength in the management of international business issues, with a particular focus on aviation management.

You will focus on strategic areas of international business, intercultural competencies, financial management and aviation strategy and management, all framed by the lens of developing patterns of world trade and the global marketplace.

You will develop the skills required to adopt appropriate strategic responses to different market environments through the study of organisations. You will also understand the impact of contextual forces on international organisations, including the aviation management for international trade and investment and management functions of business, corporate governance and ethical, economic and environmental change issues.

You will develop your knowledge of the financing of organisations including the sources, uses and management of finance and the use of accounting for managerial and financial reporting.

You will also study the management and development of people in organisations within a cross-cultural context, the use of relevant communications within the global economy. You will appreciate how cultural differences affect both buying behaviour and marketing approaches. As well as specific knowledge relating to international business, you will develop enhanced personal and interpersonal skills. These include critical thinking, team working, problem solving, numeracy and quantitative skills, self-management and negotiation skills.

At the end of this course, you will have the ability to use confidently your strategic and analytical skills to solve strategic international business and management problems.

Learning and Teaching

The MSc International Business with Aviation Management is designed to help you develop your strategic thinking ability in relation to the issues surrounding managing the legal and regulatory issues in investing in international environments. The course will provide you with a unique experience which will enable you to understand the underlying forces of globalisation and interpret the effects of these forces to gain a better understanding of business and management particularly from a global and international business perspective.

Your course will be delivered in a blocks format; this means you will undertake one unit at a time for 6 weeks and that will be a block delivery. You will undertake one Unit at a time for six weeks and that will be a block of delivery. At the end of four blocks you will progress to the master's dissertation unit. Each of these options will include an element of research methodology which is embedded within the unit. In order to undertake the dissertation unit you must have successfully completed 90 taught credits of the course. Each Unit will include significant direct contact time but it will also require and provide time for individual reading and preparation for assessment. That will take place in weeks 3 and 6 of each block. By the end of this course, you will appreciate the importance of developing a deep understanding regarding International Issues.

If you have opted to enrol for the 15 month course, you will take a break of one block at the end of the four taught blocks. You will then progress to the master's dissertation unit in block 6. The time to complete the master's dissertation unit is not affected by taking a break at the end of the four taught blocks.

International Business with Aviation Management as a study area is distinctive in that it is interdisciplinary and draws upon a wide range of soft and hard sciences. Thus, at postgraduate level the study must be integrative, blending human behaviour with analytical approaches to solve problems and implement solutions through and with people especially from a global perspective for organisations of all sizes.

Underpinning this course is the recognition that international business environments are culturally diversified and there is no single culturally-defined approach to doing international business or working with others. To ensure relevance in the global economy, you will be able to draw on a range of methods and tools for managing cultural diversity and develop strategies to predict and handle situations that occur in a cross-cultural context.

With no doubt, being active participants in the learning process, instead of members of a passive audience, improves your learning experience and increases your knowledge. At the same time, and throughout the course, you will be working on building up a number of transferable skills. Those are the ability to conduct high quality academic research, to identify questions that need to be addressed in both a professional and scientific way, to think critically when analysing, deduct when synthesizing, and to present your argument in a clear and concise manner as it is required for your success in this course but also as it will be expected by your future employers.

Your contribution to your own learning is pivotal. It is essential that, in order to maximise your benefit and to derive the best student experience, you must make optimum use of the time provided for individual learning. Direct contact times will be highly interactive and student preparation in advance is a key element for success. Therefore, your committed attendance from the welcome week to the last week of the block is essential, with non-attendance having consequential implications. Your attendance will be monitored by an effective process to ensure timely response to non-attendance issues. Starting in welcome week you will prepare for what will be an intensive delivery which will then be followed by your own individual learning and assessment. Your tutors are active researchers and they will guide you through this process by exposing you to the latest developments of the relevant subjects. Research-informed teaching is the basis for transforming a course into a unique student experience in an area of knowledge which is very dynamic in its evolution. Although the main concepts and theories might be following the structure of a textbook, you are expected to do a substantial amount of reading yourselves. There will be both guided and independent reading and the information will be available to you through BREQ and your Unit Handbooks. The University's Virtual Learning Environment will be essential in your effort given the delivery method.

Assessment

A number of different assessment methods will contribute to your development and will enhance your employability. We consider it essential that comprehensive feedback is provided in due time so it is integrated in your learning process. When group work is required, the marks given will be individual following the University of Bedfordshire's regulatory scheme. In some cases, different kinds of assessment may be used in combination, making sure however that there are no hidden tasks.

The intensive character of this Course's delivery as it is outlined in its Teaching and Learning philosophy is consistent with the needs of today's world for graduates who accumulate knowledge fast and are able to express the outcome of this process in a way that is meaningful and comprehensive. Welcome and induction activities will be followed immediately by a week of intensive direct contact time followed by your own contribution through individual learning, which will take you to your first assessment point. At the end of your six-week block, your final assessment will be due.

The overall underpinning assessment strategy on this course tests the intended learning outcomes through exposing you to a range of assessment types. The aim is to develop both knowledge and skills to support your entry to employment as confident managers. The units on this course therefore use varied combination of types of assessments for both formative and summative purposes to enrich the learning experience. The types of assessments for this course include:

Individual Written Report or Essays: Your knowledge and skills are developed when you undertake the task of writing an individual report and the whole process contributes to your improvement when it comes to conducting postgraduate level research and developing your enterprise. The ability to perform literature informed research, to review and evaluate the relevant sources and to use an appropriate methodology in order to analyze and evaluate the relevant concepts is being assessed.

Case Study: You will apply your knowledge in the context of a specific case

Oral Presentation: A number of transferable skills will be developed including the ability to present your findings in a professional, clear and concise manner.

Reflective Report: Evaluating your own contribution to a team is essential in the context of this course but in the workplace as well

Dissertation: you will have to produce an individual, independent piece of work. You will be asked to identify the research question or problem under investigation, review the relevant literature, and develop a sound methodology in order to explore the problem, proceed with the analysis, discuss your findings and make recommendations. It is the dissertation that builds on the knowledge and skills acquired in all Units. It will be one of the most challenging but yet enjoyable and rewarding experiences you will encounter.

The use of a wide range of sources, both academic and other is a requirement for a postgraduate degree. The notions of accountability and academic integrity will be an integral part of your course. You will be supported in developing an understanding of academic integrity on this course. You will be informed about what plagiarism is and how to avoid it during the delivery of each Unit. Where an individual project is required you will be asked to show the different stages of your work or to present it in its entirety upon completion. Where collaborative tasks are assigned, an individual reflective report will be necessary to indicate your contribution to the team. All coursework assignments will require a thorough evaluation of the sources used and referencing will be done according to the Harvard Referencing System.

Developing your employability

The MSc International Business with Aviation Management will focus on business management of aviation in an international context. It is a process through which you will develop problem solving skills using the techniques you learn becoming therefore more skilled, well informed and alert professionals in an increasingly demanding world.

This course equips you with the knowledge and skills to take up a career in the management of internationally related businesses. One of the ways this is achieved is by the provision of our unique practice-based approach across all the units where businesses engage and work with you on real life projects, offering hands on experience of dealing with business issues and gives you valuable evidence for future job searching. The course will be valuable both to people looking to launch a career in international business either in the private or public sector, and those already working in such an environment that are looking to develop their career with a relevant qualification.

The course sits at the heart of developing the University of Bedfordshire Business School's distinctiveness through its practice-based provision while maintaining its high academic standards.

Your enterprise, research skills and report writing ability will be enhanced and evolve through the very exciting, master's dissertation experience where you will explore a problem or research question on a topic that is highly relevant and applicable to Businesses operating in an international context.

The time between blocks provides an opportunity for personal reflection and developing self-awareness skills valued by employers.

After Graduation

On successful completion of this course you are likely to progress into the following areas:

- Management in a range of possible functional areas including aviation and airport sector
- Become an entrepreneur
- Enrol in a fast track post-graduate scheme in a major international organisation

This course also provides an excellent pathway for further studies at the MPhil and PhD levels.

Student Support during the course

At the University of Bedfordshire, student experience is a top priority. A holistic approach requires that students receive appropriate support which is not limited to their scheduled class time. A range of services will be available to you as students in this course.

Library Services (<http://lrweb.beds.ac.uk>) and the Student Information Desk (<http://www.beds.ac.uk/studentlife/student-support/sid>) will usually be your first point of reference and two of the places you visit most often. For an overview of those services, including Health and Well Being as well as Career Services please visit: <http://www.beds.ac.uk/studentlife/student-support>

BREO: Bedfordshire Resources for Education Online (BREO) includes the University's virtual learning environment (Blackboard) and a range of other technologies. Through BREO you will have access to a range of materials and resources to help and support you in each of the units you study and it is important that you access BREO regularly to find out about any changes.

In addition to these support services available in the University, course specific support has been designed to help you progress successfully, both academically and in terms of your future career and study ambitions.

English Language Support through the Language Centre with daily drop in service and free language classes.

For international students, there is a dedicated International Students' Support Team. The team is here to help you settle into University life and give advice on a range of issues such as: part-time work, how to open a bank account, places of worship and local places of interest. There is also an international student welcome programme, designed to enrich your time of study at the University as well as help you settle in, adjust to your surroundings and get to know your way around.

Your Course Coordinator is a key contact to advise you on the following:

- Specific information regarding your Course, particular Units, options, regulations, etc.
- Accuracy of your results
- Obligations regarding re-assessment and repeats
- Materials including the Course Handbook, and welcome information.

You will first meet your course coordinator during welcome week (induction) at the start of your course. Welcome week is a vital part of your course, designed to help you settle into the university and provide you with all the information that you need relating to how your course runs. During this week, you will be involved in several interactive tasks designed to prepare you for study at Master's level and to start planning your personal development. Between each block of study, you will be expected to attend follow on sessions where you will reflect on your progress against your intended aims and plan future development steps. During welcome week, we will explain the teaching and learning experience that we have designed in the course and explain why you will be engaged in various learning activities. The employability aspects and the skills that the course aims to develop will also be explained. You will have an opportunity to reflect on and evaluate your learning strengths and weaknesses and current skills base during welcome week. In between each block of study you will then be able to reflect on your progress, identify the activities that have contributed to your personal development and plan future development targets and actions.

A Personal Academic Tutor will be allocated to you after you have arrived and registered. Your PAT will be your coach during your studies. A dedicated information system is designed to support this process and you will be invited to meetings with your PAT to discuss your progress. Your PAT will be an important person to help you reflect on your progress and get the most of your decision to study a Master's degree.

As you will be studying one unit at a time, you will develop a strong relationship with the staff and your peers in each block of study. This design aspect of the course means that you will be benefitting from and contributing to learning communities that are dynamic and supportive. Staff and peers will get to know you very quickly, they will notice if you are missing and will follow up to check that everything is well. There is also time in each block of delivery to help you catch up if you unavoidably miss a session due to illness, for example.

A lot of thought and attention has been paid to ensuring that you are supported, at a university, course and unit level. Your engagement with these support systems is crucial for you to achieve your ambitions.
