AIMS OF THE DOCUMENT

The aims of this document are to:

- define the structure of the programme;
- specify the programme award titles;
- identify programme and level learning outcomes;
- articulate the regulations governing the awards defined within the document.

AIMS OF THE PROGRAMME

Academic and Professional Contexts

Sociology is viewed as a popular discipline for undergraduates, holding strong social relevance to contemporary society, in terms of changing demographics and issues relating to globalisation and migration. Sociology seeks to address the need for a clear understanding of society and social processes to address the problems of late modernity.

QAA subject benchmarks for honours degrees in the academic discipline of sociology have informed the design of this programme. Students undertaking the BU programme benefit from an opportunity to develop specialist knowledge of diversity, social processes and social change, from a sociological perspective. Graduates are equipped with communication skills, along with analytical and research skills that are increasingly necessary for professional work. Studying this degree gives students a chance to seek employment in local and national government departments, education, the corporate sector together with higher study and professional study for social work, alongside providing 'graduateness' in a key area for the contemporary world and for the global citizen required within it.

Programme Aims

Drawing on the QAA Code for HE and Subject Benchmarks, the programme aims to develop challenging, questioning and adaptable graduates, who:

- Demonstrate critical knowledge and a systematic understanding of key contexts, concepts and theoretical approaches in sociology
- Demonstrate critical awareness and understanding of social and cultural diversity, inequalities and social exclusion
- Provide and apply a coherent understanding of social processes underpinning social change
- Develop a critical understanding of comparative social analysis using appropriate social research methodologies
- Display independence of thought, as well as critical, analytical and synoptic skills sufficient to pursue further postgraduate study in sociology and cognate disciplines, or careers in a range of areas.

ALIGNMENT WITH THE UNIVERSITY'S STRATEGIC PLAN

The BA (Hons) Sociology programme aligns with BU 2025's distinctive approach to fusion, inspiring learning, advancing knowledge, and enriching society. The programme is designed to improve and enhance departmental education and research excellence, providing our students with an outstanding education and research experience, and preparing them for work in a range of professions, through the academic and applied study of sociology. The focus on active research engagement underpinning the educational philosophy of our programmes is designed to attract high quality learners. The fusion approach will foster relationships with social oriented agencies in the region and abroad.

In order to achieve BU 2025's strategic plan to ensure academic sustainability and consistent high quality, the Department of Social Sciences and Social Work delivers all its social science programmes as part of an integrated suite which ensures that in addition to providing students with a sound basis in their disciplines of choice, also introduces them to a broad social scientific perspective. Students are able to choose optional units in their own discipline or those of other disciplines within the integrated suite.

LEARNING HOURS AND ASSESSMENT

Bournemouth University taught programmes are composed of units of study, which are assigned a credit value indicating the amount of learning undertaken. The minimum credit value of a unit is normally 20 credits, above which credit values normally increase at 20-point intervals. 20 credits is the equivalent of 200 study hours required of the student, including lectures, seminars, assessment and independent study. 20 University credits are equivalent to 10 European Credit Transfer System (ECTS) credits.

The assessment workload for each unit considers the total time devoted to study, including the assessment workload (i.e. formative and summative assessment) and the taught elements and independent study workload (i.e. lectures, seminars, preparatory work, practical activities, reading, critical reflection).

Assessment per 20 credit unit should normally consist of 3,000 words or equivalent. Dissertations at Level 6 are distinct from other assessment types. The word count for these assignments is 5,000 words per 20 credits, recognising that undertaking an in-depth piece of original research as the capstone to a degree is pedagogically sound. The word count for the Dissertation unit is 10,000 words, equivalent to 40 credits,

Students who choose to undertake the sandwich placement will engage in a minimum of 30 weeks of full-time work-based learning between Levels 5 and 6. Sandwich students must pass the non-credit bearing placement portfolio assessment between Level 5 and Level 6 in order to graduate.

STAFF DELIVERING THE PROGRAMME

Students will usually be taught by a combination of senior academic staff with others who have relevant expertise including – where appropriate according to the content of the unit – academic staff, qualified professional practitioners, demonstrators/technicians and research students.

Learning and Teaching Strategies and Methods

The overall programme learning outcomes will be achieved through a range of teaching and learning methods and strategies appropriate to each level.

Subject knowledge and understanding

This will be achieved at each level through the following:

- Lectures that capture students' interest and excite their curiosity about the subject area
- Discussion-based seminars, designed to facilitate and reinforce students' understanding of the subject areas, and encourage critical and independent thinking
- Access (via the VLE) to a range of online learning resources, tutorials and subject-specific websites
- Individual or group tutorials, which are usually student-led

Programme Specification - Section 2

At Level 4 the emphasis is on acquiring foundational knowledge of the subject area through units such as Introduction to Social Theory, Families & Kinship in Contemporary Society, Social Inequality, Exclusion Histories of Social Policy and Social Welfare, and Understanding Communities.

Level 5 units build on these foundations by developing more in depth theoretical knowledge of subject area, through units such as Understanding Globalisation, and a range of option units such as Growing Up & Growing Old.

At Level 6 students have a wide range of option units to choose from, enabling them to develop specialist knowledge in specific areas across sociology in relation to culture and belief, gender, social change and conflict. In addition, they undertake a 40-credit dissertation on a topic of their own choice, within which they receive personalised guidance from an appropriate dissertation supervisor.

Intellectual skills

At all levels, students will be encouraged to explore and actively reflect on the nature of sociological theories and methods, and to think critically about the different kinds of data which emerge from them. This will include encouraging students to develop an informed reflexivity about their own knowledge and perspectives, and challenging their habitual understanding of the world by learning about social processes and human experiences which are unfamiliar to them, both historically and culturally. Lectures, discussion-based seminars, student field trips and online learning resources will provide ample opportunities for students to develop these skills throughout the programme.

At Level 4 students will be introduced to distinctive sociological methods of acquiring and analysing data, through units such as Introduction to Social Research, and Understanding Communities. They will learn about people and places that are both familiar and unfamiliar to them.

Level 5 seeks to develop students' critical understanding of sociology, social research methods and the different kinds of data which can result. They will be encouraged to broaden their historical and global awareness of different human experiences, for example through units such as Understanding Cultures. Research knowledge and skills will build upon the Level 4 foundation by offering three research-based units: Qualitative Research Skills, covering qualitative methodologies; Doing Ethnographic Research focusing on community-based research, and Quantitative Skills, developing quantitative skills.

Building on this foundation, students at Level 6 will increasingly have the opportunity to carry out their own, self-directed study of particular topics of interest. This will enable them to develop an informed evaluation of different sociological understandings of the world, including a range of methodological and theoretical approaches. In addition, students will be able to study innovative, contemporary units, such as Politics and Ideology, Terrorism, Protection & Society, Seekers, Believers & Iconoclasts: Sociology of Thought and Anthropology of International Intervention.

Subject specific skills

Throughout the programme, students will be encouraged to develop ways of thinking and asking sociologically and social policy-informed questions about the world, which builds on their knowledge of theoretical approaches and methodologies specific to both subjects. Through taking part in lectures, seminars and self-directed study for various units, they will be expected to develop skills in gathering appropriate evidence and evaluating it in order to address these questions. Several units will also explicitly enable students to develop their awareness of the potential application of sociological knowledge to a variety of contexts.

Programme Specification - Section 2

At Level 4 students will gain a general, elementary understanding of the kinds of questions sociologists pursue in their study of social life and human experiences, as well as an understanding of the theoretical underpinnings of these questions and issues, for instance through units such as Introduction to Social Theory, Introduction to Social Research, and Social Inequality and Exclusion.

At Level 5 students will broaden and deepen their understanding of sociological inquiry and expand their understanding of the kinds of methods appropriate to exploring different questions, for instance through units such as Doing Ethnographic Research and Understanding Globalisation.

At Level 6 students will increasingly be expected to plan and carry out their own independent investigation of topics of interest to them, using appropriate theoretical and conceptual frameworks and with appropriate academic guidance from lecturers.

Transferable Skills

Through studying this programme, participating in lectures and seminars and undertaking a range of assessments, students will develop key transferable skills, in particular the ability to think independently and evaluate different moral and intellectual positions critically. Through a blend of structured and student-led activities across different units, students will learn to manage their time effectively. They will develop their written and oral presentation skills, and to engage in constructive group discussions.

All Level 4 students will be encouraged to discuss and ask questions about the topics that are the focus of their learning. Guidance from academic staff and librarians will enable them to develop their scholarly and study skills (e.g., in referencing, managing their time, independent learning and making a structured argument). They will be encouraged to plan their time and manage the competing workload of different units. They will also gain experience in presenting their work in oral and written form.

Level 5 students will advance these skills as unit content becomes more challenging and wide-ranging.

Level 6 will make new demands on students in terms of managing an increasingly self-directed workload, including independent study for the dissertation, providing them with opportunities to further develop their communication, time management and scholarly skills.

Assessment Strategies and Methods

The programme will combine a wide-range of different forms of assessment of the intended learning outcomes.

Level 4

At Level 4, subject knowledge and understanding, intellectual skills, subject-specific skills and transferable skills may be assessed by:

- seen and unseen examinations
- written assignments
- an observational group study

The methods of assessment employed are well suited to Level 4 intended learning outcomes, including promoting well-rounded, foundational knowledge of the subject areas and skills, and enabling students to develop their written communication and presentation skills, as well as their time planning and management skills.

Programme Specification - Section 2

Level 5

At Level 5, subject knowledge, intellectual skills, subject-specific skills and transferable skills may be assessed in core units by:

- written assignments
- individual written evaluations of group presentations
- seen examination

At this level there may be a greater emphasis on coursework assessment through written assignments and reports than exams within core units. Coursework assessment will enable students to expand on the foundational knowledge and skills gained at Level 4, develop stronger critical and reflexive skills and the ability to think independently, all of which will be important preparation for Level 6 work.

Level 6

At Level 6, core subject knowledge, intellectual skills, subject-specific skills and transferable skills may be assessed by

- written assignments
- 10,000 word dissertation
- examinations
- oral presentations

At this level, assessments are designed to further enhance students' critical and reflexive skills, their in-depth knowledge of specialist subject areas, competence in independent study and learning, as well as time management and written and oral communication skills.

WORK BASED LEARNING (WBL) AND PLACEMENT ELEMENTS

Every student will be given the opportunity to undertake a placement. The programme offers two placement opportunities:

- Placement Learning unit - An optional Placement Learning Unit (20 days or 150 hours) will be available at Level 5.
- Practice Placement (Sandwich option) - A 30-week placement taken over the course of a full academic year at Level P.
- Further details are available in the unit specifications and placement handbooks.

Students wishing to undertake placements through either route will be expected to actively seek out opportunities for placement and make arrangements to undertake them in a way which meets all appropriate guidelines.
